

Telecommunications and related networking services are major business costs. The Aberdeen Group estimates that they represent nearly 4% of revenue at many companies.

Businesses that have a comprehensive, centralized Telecommunications Expense Management (TEM) plan for managing these costs can save up to 18%, yet less than 30% of all companies have deployed a TEM solution.

With Configure Inc.'s secure, cloud-based TEM, enterprises of all sizes can effortlessly identify over-billing and other anomalies that are undetectable through cursory reviews. Aptly branded TERA, for Telecom Expense Reduction and Analysis, businesses gain unprecedented visibility into inventory, contract compliance, best-in-class (and worst-in-class) expense control across both wireless and wireline platforms.

Best of all, TERA can pay for itself in a year and then fund the ongoing subscription through the savings it generates.

- Let TERA provide your enterprise with greater control and increased visibility. TERA will create a consolidated, actionable invoice view across your many vendors and services, automatically flagging billing irregularities. Configure billing experts can even launch and manage the dispute and recovery process as an optional, fee-based service, freeing up your staff to focus on more strategic work efforts.

- TERA's dashboard is intuitive, fully customizable, and accessible anywhere, anytime from any device. User access is permission-based, so data visibility can be partitioned. Reports can also be "pushed" to managers to create a simpler, more focused and actionable process for corrective action.
- Billing hierarchies can be set up to mirror your organization to facilitate cost allocation and best-in-class analytics. Budget and expense management can be more precise and effective using TERA's analytics and predictive tools.
- Zero Risk – Money Back Savings Guarantee. If you decide that TERA is the best solution for your organization, we guarantee a net savings within the first year. If we fall short, we will refund the difference. Contact us today for details.
